

Remote education for self-isolating pupils

Where individual pupils need to self-isolate but the majority of their peer group remains in school, how remote education is provided will likely differ from the approach for whole groups. This is due to the challenges of teaching pupils both at home and in school.

If my child is not in school because they are self-isolating, how will their remote education differ from the approaches described above?

Live lessons will generally not be able to be offered for individuals isolating at home, however, access to all PowerPoints and resources that are being used in school will be available via your child's Google Classroom. Learning sent to us via the Classroom will be commented upon daily by your child's teachers and we will endeavour to call you to check you are ok weekly.
